

BACHELOR TEST

OMAR LAKHAL

Our bachelor student Omar has given up. This is unfortunate, because we wanted him to succeed, we even helped him by writing a new version of the parser that he could use.

At the beginning of its bachelor period, we gave him a presentation about the senseless framework and the different components. We exchanged communication details for further contact.

We didn't hear much from him so we set up a meeting with him, but he never showed up.

After a while, we heard from our promoter that he has given up
